WAH YAN SAILORS

MARINE POLICE ABERDEEN BASE VISITING

On 9th August 2025, 28 Wah Yan Sailors had a remarkable opportunity to go behind the scenes at the Marine Police Aberdeen Base!

This unique experience allowed WY Sailors to dive deep into the world of marine law enforcement, exploring what it takes to keep our waters safe. From stepping aboard an actual police launch boat to witnessing an impressive demonstration of police drones in action, every moment was filled with excitement and learning.

A heartfelt thank you goes to Marine SIP Tom Chan and the incredible team at the Marine South Division. They not only led an engaging safety talk but also took the time to answer our questions about sailing practices and the complexities of operations under the influence.

Their willingness to share invaluable insights into their daily responsibilities provided us with a greater understanding of the challenges they face and the skills required for effective marine policing.

Throughout the visit, WY Sailors were able to witness firsthand the advanced technology and rigorous training that the Marine Police employ to ensure the safety of Hong Kong's waters.

This experience gave us a newfound respect for the dedication and professionalism of our marine law enforcement officers.

We extend a big thank you to all participants, as well as the Marine Police team, for making this day not only educational but also truly memorable. This rare glimpse into marine law enforcement has inspired us to continue our commitment to safe and responsible sailing.
