SUPER TYPHOON RAGASA LEFT TREES TOPPLED

Super Typhoon Ragasa hit Hong Kong hard in late September 2025, bringing significant storm surges and torrential rain.

The aftermath was devastating, with many trees toppled and uprooted, including those on our cherished campus.

Among the casualties were the three brothers – the Lophostemon confertus, commonly known as the Brisbane Box (紅膠木).

They had been under treatment for termite infestations for several years. Unfortunately, they sustained severe damage during the storm.

The campus has also experienced broken glass and damage to our sports facilities.

Among the casualties were the three brothers – the Lophostemon confertus, commonly known as the Brisbane Box (紅膠木).

Despite the challenges posed by the typhoon, our dedicated gardening and tree maintenance teams, along with the concerted efforts of our fine young Wahyanites, worked tirelessly to restore order on campus.

Remarkably, they cleared debris from the main access point – the driveway – efficiently the day after Ragasa passed, ensuring safe passage for everyone on campus.

SUPER TYPHOON RAGASA

Nurturing a tree is as delicate and resource-intensive as guiding teenagers; it requires patience and dedication. The companionship and kindness these trees offer are truly invaluable.

While we cherish each tree on campus, maintaining our approximately 250 trees presents a significant challenge.

The school spends over a million dollars annually on gardening and tree maintenance. Caring for trees of this size and age typically costs between $15,000 and $20,000 per year, not including unexpected emergencies like the recent typhoon.

All these expenses are supported by the Fr. Kelly Educational Fund for our tree maintenance / hardware program. It helps us cultivate a beautiful campus, one that embraces everyone in its green and peaceful surroundings.

CANTONESE MUSIC CONCERT 新聲粵韻匯九華

After a hiatus of fourteen years, WYKMA is proud to announce the return of the Cantonese Music Concert. This meaningful occasion was made possible through the collective efforts of our teachers, students, alumni, and the support from St. Paul's School (Lam Tin), whose dedication and passion have rekindled this cherished tradition.

Deepest gratitude to Mr. Cheng Hong-kan, Dr. Boaz Chow, and Mr. Ethan Wan for their meticulous guidance and patient teaching, which have inspired and nurtured our young musicians throughout this journey.

Our heartfelt thanks also go to the Stage Management Team, the Photography Team, Campus TV, and the Executive Committee members of the Music Association for their service. Together, we celebrate the enduring spirit of collaboration, community, and cultural heritage at Wah Yan.

Our old boys currently studying at the Hong Kong University gathered for a reunion in late September 2025.

WYKOBMA CONCERT TREES OF GREEN 2025

Trees of Green 2025, a remarkable showcase of chamber and orchestral music, was successfully held on 27th September 2025. Presented by the WYK Old Boys' Music Association, the event brought together a vibrant community of musicians and music lovers.

The concert featured impressive performances that highlighted the talents of both students and alumni. Attendees were treated to a rich tapestry of sound, with performances by the String Octet, String Quartet, Chinese Orchestra, Wind Band, String Orchestra and Symphony Orchestra.

The performers included a mix of current students and talented alumni from WYK, as well as special guests from other esteemed institutions such as Heep Yunn School and St. Mary's Canossian College.

INTER-SCHOOL SWIMMING COMPETITION

The Inter-school Swimming Competition 2025-2026 (Division 1) has come to an end in October 2025. Our school placed 8th overall, showcasing the incredible talent and hard work of our swimmers.

Throughout the competition, our athletes demonstrated remarkable skill, determination, and sportsmanship. The atmosphere at the event was electric, with schools from across the territory coming together to celebrate the spirit of competition and friendship.

Our students rallied behind the athletes, filling the stands with enthusiastic cheers and spirited encouragement. Their unwavering support created an inspiring atmosphere, motivating our swimmers to push their limits and perform at their best.

The chants and cheers echoed throughout the venue, reminding everyone of the strong sense of brotherhood and community within our school.
